

STABILIZATION OF FLUORINE-CONTAINING DIELECTRIC MATERIALS IN A METAL INSULATOR WIRING STRUCTURE

Abstract

A process for providing regions of substantially lower fluorine content in a fluorine-containing dielectric comprises exposing the fluorine-containing dielectric to a reactive species to form volatile byproducts.